We, Leona and Roger Harris are Kiwis who have always enjoyed the sunshine and warmth of Queensland. We finally gave up our home country to come to live in Australia in June 2007. This decision was hastened with the cold wet winters New Zealand was experiencing this year.

We have travelled extensively and worked in the fields of finance, human resources, general management and on the land as hobby farmers. We have spent many hours on your side of the reception counter, and feel we know what you want, and, what you don't appreciate.
